

Christine Geluk

Principal & Founder, Librarian At Your Service LLC

Christine Geluk is an experienced scientific-technical research librarian with expertise in non-patent literature (NPL). Specifically, Chrissy leverages the skills (and then some) she mastered in graduate school and continues to strengthen as a business owner providing information services. Chrissy earned her undergraduate degree in mathematics from Fordham University, and graduate degree in library & information sciences from Simmons. As a librarian supporting the information services needs of her clients mostly in the biotech, pharma and life sciences, Chrissy applies her knowledge of NPL when delivering intelligent searches & analyses and end-user training. Chrissy is a recipient of the 2013 PIUG Service Award.
