Presenter:

Christopher Baldwin, Clarivate Derwent & Paul Torpey, Clarivate Derwent

Background:

With nearly 20 years of experience in the IP analysis and benchmarking field, Christopher helped research intensive organizations maximize their IP potential through sound insight backed by thorough technology and competitive IP assessments. Specializing in the chemical and material sciences, He has a proven record of influencing innovation and integrating IP with business strategy to realize the value of patent portfolios.

Paul has been with the Clarivate Analytics business for more than 15 years and has held several roles across the organization. In his current role as Director of Product Management, Paul is directly responsible for managing the product life cycle for Derwent Innovation, including the product roadmap. Prior to joining the Derwent team in 2010, Paul spent a significant amount of time in the Scientific and Academic Research business of Clarivate Analytics supporting platforms such as the Web of Science.

In his spare time Paul is involved with the National Multiple Sclerosis Society and is the team captain for the Clarivate Analytics Philadelphia cycling team that participates in fund raising activities for MS research and patient care.
